

Coming Events

June 15 - Monticello High School

The Physics of Sound is the Arts-in-Education topic this year, and students with WCM musicians will present the results of their work in performances at MHS. 7pm, 39 Breakey Ave., Monticello, NY.

June 20 - Music in the Barn, Bethel

WCM's second fundraiser of the year helps support the Artist Coaching Project & the school A-in-E projects. The annual event begins at 6pm at the country home of a WCM Patron, & includes an al fresco buffet supper with wine, & concert in the barn followed by dessert & coffee on the terrace. Flutist Judith Pearce, harpsichordist Ken Hamrick & violinist Sunghae Anna Lim perform a 'mostly' Mozart concert of solos, duos and trios.

Reservations are $75 & are required in advance. Call 718-638-8962 or 845-932-8527 for directions & to reserve.

From the Artistic Director

D.Duke

Dear Friends,

IT'S SPRING – and I realize it's the last newsletter before the festival (July 12–26) so I must pack all my temptations and flattery into this single vertical box. It isn't difficult, however, because my head is full of various bits of music, a pre-festival soup - a lively, internal, endless concert. And this year there seems to be an especially broad sweep of music from the late 1500's to 2008. For instance, we'll have a US premiere; music by some of Russia's greatest composers; a celebration of three "Sullivan County" composers, all well-known; early Italian music including Locatelli's "Harmonic Labyrinth," and a delightful piece, not JUST for children, about wind energy ... to name just a few ingredients audiences will savor during "The Russian Connection."

Recently I was dipping into Russell Sherman's book "Piano Pieces" and came across this unusual, and lovely thought: "When all is said and done the melody is still the queen bee. All the other voices must serve the colony by diligently supporting her. For without her health, well-being, and radiance, the colony—and the piece—will not survive."

Perhaps the word radiance can entice you to this year's Music in the Barn, our June 20th gala benefit. We've planned a program of Mozart sonatas (and other tidbits) for violin, flute and harpsichord. One doesn't hear Mozart very often on the harpsichord now, but it was a common performance practice during his lifetime. In fact the harpsichord is a wonderful partner in these sonatas, and the three of us are seriously excited!

It is our 16th season and sixteenth festival too, of course; last year several friends pronounced the 15th "the best ever!" Don't miss your chance to disagree with them this year.

Till we meet...
